Big Insurance Man is Grateful

WIDELY KNOWN NEW YORK STATE MAN KNOWS VALUE OF EFFICIENCY.

RENEWS ACTIVITIES.

After Telling of Benefit Tanlac Gave He Says He Feels Again Like Living.

H. S. Richardson, the widely known insurance manager of 809 East Waterstreet, Elmira, N. Y., knows the value to full efficiency and the necessity of being on the job every minute with full confidence, ambition and strength. As this competent business man says, in these days men and women have to be at their best to meet the extraordinary demands upon their purses.

Being interested in others, Mr. Richardson recently told how he renewed his activities when they had been impaired by unusual suffering. "I believe," he said, "that I suffered about as much as it is possible for anyone to suffer with stomach trouble. I had it in the worst possible form. I would wake up in the morning, after a restless night, and my stomach would feel as if something was gnawing at it and actually was trying to pull it apart."

"I was hungry all the time with that peculiar gnawing feeling but the minute anything reached my stomach it turned into a sour lump. Then I was fit for nothing. I had to have a couch in my office and often during the day I would have to lie down when my spells of suffering came on. When Tanlac was introduced here I would confidence in it at once because I had confidence in the company that made it. A medicine they put out years ago added ten years to my wife's life. Now I am as confident Tanlac has done as much for me."

"I have gained pounds on four or five bottles and I feel like living again. My stomach trouble is gone, of course, or I could not have built up that way so quickly."

This remarkable statement shows how Tanlac appeals to the careful, competent people everywhere. Men and women who a year ago would not have thought of endorsing a medicine publicly praise Tanlac, and the record of this reconstructive system purifier and stomach tonic has never been equalled.

Tanlac, the master medicine, is sold by

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 15-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

PROOF OF MOON'S ROTATION

Nikola Tesla Shows Conclusively That Speculations as to Orb's Movement Are Wrong.

Nikola Tesla communicates to the Electrical Experimenter a striking proof of the fact that the moon does not rotate on its axis, but only seems to do so. Much of his article is extremely technical, involving the complex mathematical formula of kinematics, but the following extract, with the accompanying diagram, can be understood by anyone.

The diagram shows a system composed of eight balls (M), which are carried on spokes (S), radiating from a hub (H) rotatable around a central axis (O) in bearings supposed to be frictionless. The balls are not a part of the spokes, but are supported in pivots (s) which are nominally loose, but can be tightened so as to permit free turning or rigid fixing as desired. To facilitate observation, the spokes are provided with radial marks and the lower halves of the balls are shaded.

Now, with the pivots loose, start the apparatus going in the clockwise direction marked by the black arrow—from position 1 to 8—and by the time it has made the whole circuit of (O) it has shown its whole circumference to any observer at (O). Thus it has revolved on its axis.

Now tighten the screws so that the ball no longer turns freely on its axis, but becomes a solid part of the spoke. The side that is turned toward (O) at the beginning remains always turned toward (O), and an observer at (O) sees only one face of the ball in its revolution.

Now, the latter is exactly the case of the moon. If the moon were free to turn upon its axis, we on earth should see its whole circumference in the course of a month and we might know what is on the other side of the moon as well as we know what is on the one face with which we are all familiar.

USEFUL IN MINING DISASTERS

War-time Device, Perfected by American Engineers, Has a Practical Purpose in Peace.

In the latter days of the war reports emanated from France of a mysterious listening device which "heard" sounds inaudible to the ear and located their source. The same mechanism developed to highly practical form by American engineers, has now been adopted by the United States bureau of mines for locating miners accidentally entombed, says Popular Mechanics magazine.

The instrument, called a "geophone," is practically a miniature seismograph. It is quite simple, consisting of an iron ring closed at each side by a diaphragm of mica. In the center is suspended by a bolt through the diaphragms, a disk of lead. A brass cap forms an air chamber at each end. To the center of one cap is attached a rubber tube with stethoscopic earpieces.

The metal case, set on end on the ground, vibrates to every shock; but the lead disk, held by inertia, does not. The resulting disturbance of the mica diaphragms is communicated to the earpieces with extraordinary sensitiveness.

With two instruments, one for each ear, the listener can accurately locate the source of the sound, and even identify the cause. In government tests sounding with a sledge was located through 1,150 feet of bituminous coal, other concussions registering in proportion.

Misplaced Slang.

A story that has a point worth thinking about was recently printed in the Louisville Courier-Journal. A boy had passed a fairly good examination, and his prospective employer told him to report the next morning.

"I gotcha," said the boy. "But you haven't got the job yet," was the swift reply, "and what's more, you never will."

The Way It Ought to Be.

"We've got it on record, anyhow."

"What?"

"The Germans admit that we forced them to sign the peace treaty. That ought to end their boasts that they weren't licked."

Sure Enough.

"Nothing was ever settled by force," said the pacifist.

"I don't know about that," replied a man in the audience. "Force seems to have brought Germany to time."

PEA RIDGE

The corner stone of the new church at Pleasant Hill will be laid next Sunday, August 17. A large crowd is expected to be present.

Services will continue the entire day, and dinner on the ground at noon. Let everybody that can be present and bring dinner.

Mrs. L. B. Eggers and son spent Sunday night with Mrs. R. E. Hedgcock.

A number of young folks from the ridge attended a party given at Mr. James White's Saturday night, near Block House. The party was given in honor of their son, Roy, who recently returned from his duty overseas.

The pie supper that was at Pleasant Hill August 2 for the purpose of securing money to buy a bell for the church was a success. More than sufficient money was raised and the bell is already bought.

Miss Ruby Thompson left Sunday for Binfield where she will teach this fall.

Mr. Leon Everett who has been confined to the room with rheumatism for sometime is able to drive out now.

Miss Agnes Long who has gone through a siege of fever is able to be out.

Mrs. M. C. Whetsell spent last week at Maryville visiting relatives. Mr. Bob Hedgcock spent a night last week in Knox county.

Mrs. P. E. Murray is some better after having been sick for some time.

For some reason our community schools die not begin Monday morning as was expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spangler and son spent Thursday night at Manson Everett's.

Miss Zula Law and brother, Harold, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walker at Townsend.

Mrs. Lila Wood of Maryville visited her father, Mr. Charlie Teffetler, the latter part of last week.

Misses Ruth and Ramah McGrath are spending some time at Montvale Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stephens and children visited Mr. Dewey Spangler and family Sunday.

Misses Stella Goddard and Emily Everett called on the Whetsell girls Sunday.

Frank Everett of near Brown's, spent a day last week with his brother, Manson Everett and family. Mrs. Cora Stephens called on Mrs. Mollie Long Saturday. Mr. Will Dyer of Miser Station, spent Friday night at J. J. Whetsell's home.

I suppose every one was glad to see the nice shower of rain Sunday night.

Now All You Good Fellows, Come Fill Up Your Pipes

15c

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here

If ever men are "Tom" and "Bill" to each other, it's when good pipes are a-going. If ever good pipes go their best, 'tis when Velvet's in the bowl.

For Velvet is a mighty friendly smoke. Kentucky Burley is the leaf that Nature made for pipes. Wholesome and hearty, honest as the day. And Velvet is that same good Burley leaf, brought to mellow middle age.

For eight long seasons Velvet "meditates" in wooden hogsheads, throwing off the rawness of "young" tobacco—truly "ageing in the wood." Out Velvet comes—cool, calm and generous—the tobacco Nature made good, kept good and made better.

Velvet's sweetness is the sweetness of good tobacco, not "put on" like "frosting" on a cake. Its mildness comes from natural ageing, not from having the life baked out. Its fragrance is true tobacco fragrance, not a perfume. And Velvet makes an A Number One cigarette. Roll one.

As good old Velvet Joe says:

"Fill yo' heart with friendly thoughts,
Yo' mouth with friendly smoke—
An' let the old world wag."
